

Supplier-e-valuation

Good suppliers are a prerequisite for good business

Many companies have already found that there is money to be made by having the right combination of suppliers. Discovering the correct combination is often a time consuming process. This might involve cutting down on the number of suppliers, changing over to other suppliers or getting to grips with suppliers already used and systemizing work with them. Better suppliers improve your own performance and help your company to improve its bottom line figures. To facilitate this work FORCE Technology can offer you a web-based tool - Supplier-e-valuation – which ensures that too much time is not wasted on evaluating suppliers.

For companies with many suppliers, Supplier-e-valuation is an evident advantage and may be e.g. combined with environmental work and environmental management, where suppliers can be evaluated according to a number of environmental parameters. FORCE Technology has particular expertise in this area and we can provide supplementary consultancy based on many years of experience and cooperation with industry.

FORCE Technology offers Supplier-e-valuation as a subscription service. We make available server capacity, maintenance, updating and backup, thus there are no awkward installation procedures or expensive service purchases, nor do you need to set aside resources for maintenance.

An annual subscription gives you access to use Supplier-e-valuation and thus opportunities for designing and sending out questionnaires to your suppliers and analysing the data. Subscription prices depend on the number of suppliers you wish to work with.

How Supplier-e-valuation works

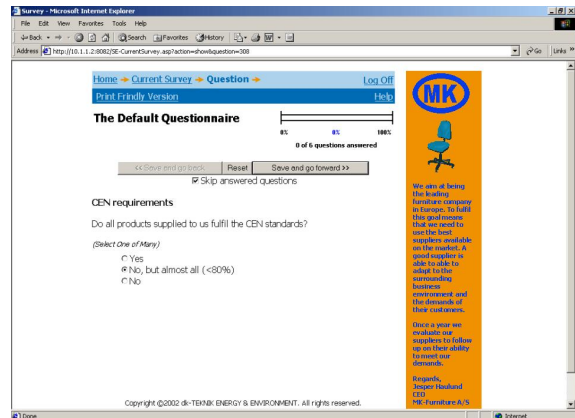

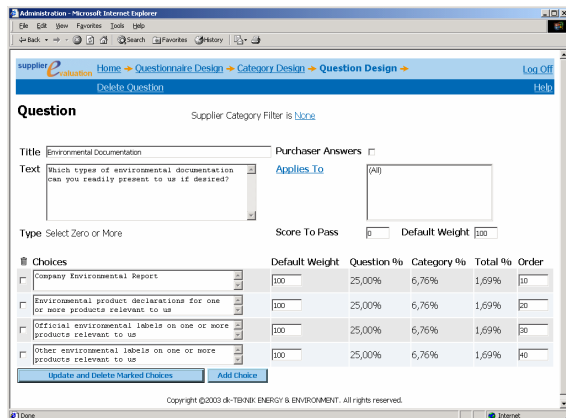

- You have access to an administration module where you can manage suppliers and questionnaires
- When starting an evaluation, suppliers receive an email where they can log on to the system
- The suppliers answer a number of questions adapted to your evaluation needs and wishes
- Your buyers may also supplement information with inhouse evaluation of the suppliers
- The system stores all information in a database, which you can access
- After entering information, results are returned to you as a series of lists and reports, which you can use as a basis for action
- Suppliers are sent the results of evaluation.

Supplier-e-valuation

- Saves time and money
- Is extremely helpful both when working with supplier consolidation or supplier change
- Can help your existing suppliers to better match your wishes
- Returns an overall evaluation of the most important suppliers, e.g. based on finances, logistics, service, quality, environmental and product range – customized to your needs
- Provides uniform evaluation of suppliers
- Is adapted to your own evaluation criteria and types of supplier
- Facilitates the tracking of progress in your supplier management work
- User-friendly and of value both to you and your suppliers
- Motivates improvements on the part of your suppliers.

- Systemize your work with suppliers
- Reduce costs
- Reduce time wastage
- Motivate improvement on the part of your suppliers
